

EMPLOYMENT LAWSM UPDATES

ANNUAL ADVANCED CONFERENCES

Attendees rate this the best HR law program in the country.

- Up-to-the-minute information on significant employment law developments, legal hot spots, and best practices policies.
- “All star” faculty of Raymond M. Deeny, Esq. and John F. Wymer III, Esq.
- Special materials, vital topics, collegial atmosphere.

“As always, EXCELLENT program. IAML’s instructors are engaging, they stir up great conversation and provide ‘real world’ tips for us to take back to the workplace immediately. Other seminars I’ve attended that are billed as ‘advanced’ are not. This one assumes a solid basis of understanding with employment law so the attendees can really learn about the nuances that have developed in recent months/years.”

Susie White • Employee Relations & Training Manager • Alfa Insurance Company • Montgomery, Alabama

“The program was very informative, the conversation and informal interaction with other participants was very useful. John [Wymer] was awesome with his delivery of the material and made every effort to address questions and topics that we raised.”

Charlotte Witt
Sr. Employee Relations Specialist
Christiana Care Health System
Newark, Delaware

“Really enjoyed Ray’s [Deeny] presentation; particularly the way he shared his viewpoint when describing today’s labor and employment law environment!”

Bill Davidson
Sr. Ethics Investigator/Coordinator
Georgia Power Co.
Atlanta, Georgia

"I very much enjoyed the 2 days spent listening to Raymond Deeny. His way of explaining the law through recent cases was a perfect way to learn."

Alex Alvarez
Vice President, Organizational Development
Motorcar Parts of America, Inc.
Torrance, California

"This was a great course. John [Wymer] was very engaged and did awesome with Q&A. I learned so much from this course and can't wait to do it again!"

Carly Lundy
Human Resources/Labor Relations Manager
Warrior Met Coal
Brookwood, Alabama

“The Employment Law Update – Advanced Conference is a great way to get up to date information for seasoned HR professionals. For over 20 years I have attended this and other IAML programs and would recommend them to anyone.”

Craig Woolcott, SPHR, SHRM-SCP
Vice President, Human Resources
& Administration
J.B. Poindexter & Co., Inc.
Houston, Texas

“I appreciate the fact that John [Wymer] opened the conference asking what areas were most important to each user then adjusting the agenda to accommodate. It allowed us to spend majority of time on the issues that seemed most critical to the organizations being represented. The content was relevant and up-to-date. John was extremely knowledgeable and a great presenter. Used humor to keep the topics lively and engaging.”

Kevin Wise, PHR
Human Resources Manager
Neighborly
Waco, Texas

Conference Overview

You are responsible for keeping up with employment laws and pertinent compliance mandates. Your organization relies on you as a key member of the leadership team... though you're often forced to be a “bad news” messenger, thanks to ever more complex laws and regulations. Plus, you're responsible for making sure your organization's supervisors and managers understand organizational policies and procedures...as well as major laws and compliance mandates...and apply them consistently and correctly.

You will review actual cases that have recently been decided in district and appellate courts, as well as the U.S. Supreme Court; and discuss how those decisions impact what employers need to be doing in the workplace to conform with these decisions. The course also discusses any new legislation that might impact employers in these areas.

You will spend two days in the classroom with the same group of people, allowing you to acquire learning through both the instructor and the group as a whole. This gives you so much more opportunity to expand your professional network than speeding through 60 minute presentations on different tracks like so many other training courses.

Learning Objectives

- Analyze, implement and evaluate the relationship between federal regulations and the needs of the organization; and how those relate to maintaining appropriate relationships and working conditions with employees.
- Better assess how their own corporate policies and procedures fall in line with the federal requirements and if those policies don't meet the requirements, what organizational change activities need to be met in response.
- Solve problems that require more context and deeper analytical thinking.
- Review policies and procedures governing workplace rules and conduct.

Conference Content

- Contractors, Contractors, Contractors...
- Does Title VII Protect Transgender Applicants and Employees from Discrimination? In 2020, the U.S. Supreme court will provide the answer.
- New Frontiers Under the ADA: Can an employer legally base an employment decision on its belief a non-disabled person might become disabled in the future? Plus, the latest cases on “reasonable” accommodation, what job functions are “essential,” and undue hardship.
- A Majority-Republican NLRB: What a Difference an Election Makes! The Latest NLRB cases as the current Labor Board seeks to undo its predecessor’s rulings.
- Retaliation and Whistle-Blower Cases: Still the “claim du jur.” Over fifty percent of all EEOC charges include an allegation of retaliation. We will discuss the latest cases and strategies for avoiding or successfully defending Retaliation and Whistle-Blower claims.
- Non-Competes, No-Solicitation Requirements, Non-Disclosure of Confidential Information and Arbitration Agreements: Are they enforceable? Should every employee be required to sign one? What are the benefits? The risks?
- The Latest Wage-and-Hour Law Developments: Including the Department of Labor’s new salary threshold for exempt status.
- Employee Handbooks: Do’s, Don’ts, and Maybe’s. When Is the Last Time You Updated Yours?
Tips on how to draft or revise an employee handbook.
- Plus, a Comprehensive Update on the Most Important, Late-Breaking Labor and Employment Law Developments of 2020 Regarding Harassment, Social Media, Age Discrimination, Leaves of Absence and Other Topics.
- IAML Open Forum
So that everyone’s questions can be answered, there will be an “open forum” session that will provide you with an opportunity to ask questions regarding topics that were not covered.

“I enjoyed how John [Wymer] tied the information to cases. I also liked how he engaged the room and was able to get everyone talking.”

Shauna Phillips, PHR, SHRM-CP
